"ABELARD AND HELOISE"

by RONALD DUNCAN

Abelard.....KENNETH RATCLIFFE

Heloise.....DIANE SPEAKMAN

Produced by ALAN CHAMBERS

Setting designed and constructed by JOHN ROLFE

Ronald Duncan's play is a poem created from the passionate tormented letters which passed between the poet philosopher priest and his Abbess wife ten years after his enforced castration had led to their separation.

It is a duologue which reveals the quintessence of love. Yet the lovers never meet. All we see is their isolated agony as they write.
