DIMENSION

DIMENSION is an experiment in theatre without words, an experiment in contemporary movement. The actors body is taken as the instrument of expression against a background of highly emotive music and extremely vivid atmospheric lighting to create a visual theatre of the body or 'figures in light and sound'. Most of the cast have had little or no movement experience, and so we adhered to no particular style. I chose eight themes of contrasting nature which are not connected in any way, but which demand a wide range of movement technique. I then took music from Varese, Takemitsu, Strauss, Vangelis, Messiaen, Ligetti, Pink Floyd, Bob Downes, Adrian Wagner, Mike Oldfield, and Phosphorescent Rat.
