MOUTHPIECES consists of two monologues, A State of Limbo and The Star Gazer, which were written as companion pieces. Michael Sharp has kindly allowed me to dovetail them and present them together. I feel that this helps emphasise the loneliness of the characters - the two women inhabit the same space but are totally isolated and their stories act as counterpoint to each other.

A State of Limbo and The Star Gazer were submitted to Questors as unsolicited scripts in 1994.
